

G. O. P. OPPOSITION TO OPA BILL FOLDING

"Call Me Bill, Now"

After having to whip several of the boys in his Birmingham, Ala., nursery school because they looked at his long, curly hair and called him "Sissy," four-year-old William Grant Armstrong finally persuaded his mother, Mrs. William Armstrong, to let him get a haircut. Above, he is being shorn of his baby locks, after which...

...he admires himself in a mirror, saying "They'll call me 'Bill' now," while his mother looks at the pile of curls and sadly realizes that her baby is a big boy now.

DRAFT BILL HEADED FOR TRUMAN DESK

Early Signature Also Is Expected To Pay Boost Measure

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 26—With more than $50,000,000 at stake, the nation's men in uniform riveted their attention on the White House today to learn when the draft extension compromise and its companion pay increase measure become law.

The twin bills cleared final congressional hurdles yesterday in double quick time after months of argument.

Public interest centered on the nine-month extension of the wartime draft beyond June 30 with non-fathers between 19 and 45 probably most concerned as possible draftees. Neither service, however, has indicated any desire to draft anyone over 26.

Other provisions of the measure include:

1. An 18-month limit on compulsory service.
2. No further inductions of fathers.
3. A clause that fathers now in service may apply for release after Aug. 1.

But the men of the Army, Navy, Marines and other armed services—from gold braided officers down to privates and apprentice seamen—were more interested in the time of the pay boost signing.

The increases—ranging from $25 a month for the privates up to $166.67 for the upper bracket generals and admirals—will become in effect on the first day of the month following the presidential signature.

Must Begin By July 1

Because the present stop gap draft act dies at the end of this month, Mr. Truman was expected to sign the compromise extension before July 1; but he was not under the same pressure to sign the board pay increase plan.

In all, congressional committees estimated the pay increases will total something over $632,000,000 for the next year.

Although the house required several hours and some argument before it approved the two compromises, the senate agreed to both in less than ten minutes without record votes.

The house accepted the draft extension—which reversed in part its previous position against inducting either 18 or 19 year olds—by a 259 to 118 vote.

Before the vote, it learned the War department plans no inductions during July and August so that a pool of some 52,000 men between 19 and 30 will be available for the draft at the end of that period.

About 13,000 are expected to be called in September, and an average of 7,000 each month thereafter unless voluntary enlistments fill all needs.

While the compromise legislation bans inductions of anyone under 18, youths still will have to register for the draft when they become 18.

Official Installs New Lions Officers

H. F. Worcester of Lakewood, district governor of the Lions International, installed new officers Tuesday night at the Lions club installation dinner meeting at Hillcrest Inn, Canfield road.

Worcester, who was accompanied by his wife, spoke on the aims and programs of the club.

Installed as president was Clyde K. Dickson, who succeeds Charles Stamm.

Other officers are: First vice president, Howard Heston; second vice president, Donald Rosing; third vice president, Clyde L. Smith; secretary-treasurer, Emory DeMers; tall twister, James S. Jackson; lion tamer, Frank Byerly.

Appointed to the board of directors were Urban Lepping and Cloyd W. Reynard. Other members of the board are Oren Naragon and Merle Miller.

These committee chairmen were named by Dickinson, following the installations:

Constitution and by-laws, Carl Auman; attendance, Merle Miller; convention, Frank Byerly; finance, John Lewis; Lions education, Howard Heston; membership, Charles Stamm; boys and girls committee, Paul Smith; program, Cloyd Reynard; publicity, Ray Dean.

Citizenship and patriotism, Chester Kridler; civic improvement, community betterment, Dana Floding; education, Oren Naragon; health and welfare, Paul Miller; safety, Clyde L. Smith; sight conservation, James S. Jackson.

Lovers' Quarrel Brings Pole Sitter Off Perch

COSHINGTON, June 26—A lovers' quarrel last night brought "Mad" Marshall Jacobs off his 176-foot flagpole, which he ascended May 30 in quest of a world sitting record.

Today he had disappeared, and his fiancée, Miss Lonnie Cosmar, went to the top of the pole and said she would stay there until he returned. They are scheduled to be married on the pole Sunday.

For 26 days Jacobs had clung to his perch, despite electrical storms and hot sun. But Miss Cosmar wanted to go to Cleveland today to take part in a radio broadcast and Jacobs forbade her to go.

She insisted, and then Jacobs came down despite her entreaties.

The steeplejack, who had planned to stay aloft until July 4, then went to his hotel room, took a bath and disappeared.

MEAT FAMINE GRIPS NATION

No Immediate Relief In Sight; Packers Blame OPA Controls

A virtual famine in fresh meat for most of the nation was reported today—with no indications of immediate relief—as the senate prepared to act on the house-approved compromise OPA bill retaining meat price controls.

Most Salem meat markets continued to be as bare as Old Mother Hubbard's cupboard.

Some packer industry spokesmen said should the bill become law, keeping the lids on livestock and meat prices, the country's meat supply "will get even worse."

Packers Blame OPA
Others asserted the scarcity would continue for several months. One large packer said the shortage would continue "until the fate of OPA is determined."

There were threats of a complete shutdown of facilities from packing houses to retail markets in Los Angeles because of expressed dissatisfaction over the OPA bill provisions.

Fish and fowl and eggs replaced the main meat dish on the country's dinner tables as hundreds of butcher shops across the country closed. Operations in packing plants dropped to new all time low levels.

The abnormally low volume of livestock at markets during the last two weeks has resulted in the lowest output in history at many plants.

An increase in livestock receipts, however, was expected next week by some industry spokesmen who said many farmers would release cattle which they have been holding back pending settlement of the OPA issue.

Might Be Less
The larger run in the weeks ahead, would be seasonal as grass cattle move to market, but some expressed belief that the total next output during the next six months might be less than in the corresponding period of last year.

City after city reported virtually no fresh meat obtainable—and in some cities even cold cuts were hard to get through normal channels.

G. M. Foster, president of the John Morrell and company said in Ottumwa, Ia., that his country was unable to buy livestock "under present restrictions," and "no one can blame livestock owners for holding their livestock in the hope of a price rise." His statement came after layoffs of 3,450 workers at three Morrell plants since Saturday.

New York Ferry Riders Trapped By Fire

New York harbor fireboats crowd around pier and ferry house on Staten Island to pour water on oil-fed flames sweeping through dilapidated ferry house. At least two persons were killed Tuesday afternoon, 26 or more injured and others feared trapped by flames that spread rapidly through the ferry house and pier, touched off two barges tied up nearby and threatened to ignite more barges. One ferry boat had just arrived from Manhattan and the passengers were disembarking when the fire broke out.

New Era For Army Officer-Enlisted Men Distinctions Narrowed

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 26—The Army launched a military "new order" experiment today by narrowing social distinctions between officers and enlisted men without wiping them out.

Secretary of War Patterson gave carefully qualified approval last night to all but two of the 14 recommendations submitted by the Doolittle "gripe" board which investigated post-war GI complaints of too much caste in the service.

Patterson announced that the War department is ordering:

1. Abolition of saluting except on military posts, in overseas occupied areas and on ceremonial occasions.
2. Elimination of an existing requirement that officers wear distinctive uniforms, live apart from their men in garrison, and confine their social contacts to other officers.

3. Granting enlisted men the same privilege as officers, effective July 1, in accumulating unused leave time, currently 30 days a year.

4. Studies looking to a possible upward revision of pay schedules along with allowances for food, quarters and travel.

5. Measures to train officers better for leadership, assign them "in the best interests of the service" and to overhaul the present system of promotions.

6. Rewriting of regulations to define "essential" privileges of officers and to prohibit or minimize "possible abuses of authority and prestige."

7. Efforts to improve the social facilities available to enlisted men.

Announcing the War department's action on recommendations made by the Doolittle board a month ago, Patterson rejected outright a proposal that the terms "officers" and "enlisted men" be eliminated entirely and stressed there must be no weakening of discipline in the army.

Patterson rejected also a proposal that reports of inspectors general to the War department should bypass field commanders. His reason was that no change should be made that would give the inspectors "any tinge of 'Gestapo' or under-cover status."

Molotov Awaiting Word From Moscow

By LOUIS NEVIN
PARIS, June 26—French newspapers printed unconfirmed reports today that Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was expecting a telephone call from Moscow which might bring a surprise development in the Trieste issue, key to Italian peace negotiations.

Secretary of State Byrnes was represented by American informants as encouraged by a series of private talks with Molotov, who has been adamant in demanding that Trieste be transferred from Italy to Yugoslavia.

There was no known basis for the Paris newspaper assertions. The frequent conversations between Byrnes and his Russian counterpart at the council of foreign ministers have given rise to conjecture in diplomatic circles that a compromise on the Adriatic port might be shaping up.

Byrnes and Molotov talked for more than an hour yesterday afternoon in their third private meeting in less than a week.

Police Corral Stray Horse After Chase

Policemen draw strange assignments!

Patrolman Howard Forney, night patrolman, was called to the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, near W. Wilson st., at 5 a. m. today because a large black stallion was reported running up and down the tracks.

Forney arrived and made chase, getting the animal off the tracks—only seconds before the morning Streamliner sped past.

The chase continued with the horse finally ending up in the back yard of the George "Sim" Early residence, 677 W. State st.

Early, also a patrolman, was off duty and in bed but Forney's plight aroused him and the two, using an improvised clothes line halter, held the animal until Humane Officer A. H. Fultz arrived to take charge.

The horse evidently was a runaway, but Fultz has not been able to locate the owner. The animal had suffered several cuts about the face.

HOUSEHOLDERS PAY FOR MINERS' RAISE

WASHINGTON, June 26—The nation's coal bill is up $267,250,000 a year, by OPA estimate.

The price agency figures that yesterday's order boosting anthracite ceilings an average of 91 cents a ton will represent a total of $44,500,000 annually.

Most of that comes out of the budget of householders, the major users of hard coal.

Commercial and industrial users took the principal rap on last Friday's 40% cents a ton increase on bituminous coal—estimated by OPA at $222,750,000.

The bulk of both increases is attributed to the new wage agreement signed by John L. Lewis, president of the AFL United Mine Workers, following the recent coal field strikes.

July 4th Pyrotechnics Prohibited In County

Columbiana county is assured a safe and sane Fourth of July, as far as fireworks are concerned, Sheriff George Hayes stated today in calling attention to the Ohio law prohibiting the sale and use of firecrackers and fireworks.

Although retail sales of fireworks are prohibited, public displays at parks, etc., can be arranged by applying at the sheriff's office for permits, Hayes said.

WHERRY FIGHT AT COMPROMISE HELD USELESS

House Approved Revised Wartime Act By a 265 to 105 Vote

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 26—A drive by Republican senators to send the OPA extension bill back to conference with the house gave indications of folding up today.

Senators who earlier had expressed interest in the idea told reporters privately that the big margin by which the house rejected a similar move made defeat almost certain.

The house vote was 221 to 150 against returning the already-limited compromise legislation to committee for elimination of meat ceilings.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican whip, still held to his plan to ask return of the bill to a conference committee, however.

Headed For White House

Administration leaders expressed confidence they had enough votes to defeat Wherry's motion and to send the bill on to the White House. It was approved 265 to 105 by the house yesterday.

There was no indication that any filibustering tactics would be employed against the bill. OPA expires next Sunday at midnight unless the extension measure is enacted.

But Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) said he thought the overwhelming house vote foreshadowed a senate okay for the measure even though, he added, "Nobody likes it."

Wherry, a Nebraskan, said he did not see how the senate could accept the "conference committee decision eliminating a senate clause which would have lifted price control from meat next Sunday night. The house, however, voted 221 to 150 to back up the committee on this point.

Senate rejection of the bill would plunge it back into conference, probably with instructions to the seven senate conferees to hold out for the decontrol not only of meat, but of poultry, dairy products, petroleum and tobacco.

All those efforts to lift controls were eliminated Monday night by the joint committee which wrote the compromise version.

Although they were written in three separate amendments, from a practical political standpoint they are wrapped up in one bundle.

A legislator from a tobacco state, for instance, might be inclined to support the triple exemptions even though oil and livestock were not particularly important from a production standpoint in his locality.

Wherry was prepared to lead the fight, and associates said Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) would support him.

May Urge Veto

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who directed the struggle to erase meat price ceilings in the banking committee, apparently was sitting out the new battle although he told reporters he would vote again for lifting those controls.

While both Stabilizer Director Chester Bowles and OPA Chief Paul Porter remained publicly aloof, officials in close touch with them said each is likely to urge President Truman to veto the compromise bill.

Death Takes Wellsville Couple's Third Child

WELLSVILLE, June 26—Marking the third death in the family within five weeks, funeral services will be held here Thursday for William, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Porter, who died Monday of pneumonia.

The boy's sister Mildred, aged 9, and Carole, 4½, died of throat infections in May.

There are two other sisters.

Fichter Says Ohio Farmers' Strike Warning To Congress

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, June 26—The Ohio farm strike picked up momentum today and the master of the State grange declared the movement "ought to be a warning to congress."

A group of 150 Lorain county farmers joined hands with the Ohio Marketing quota protest association, which called on its membership to withhold all food from channels of distribution. The association claims 17,000 members in 40 of Ohio's 88 counties.

Twenty-four hours after the association called the strike in protest against congress' failure to abolish the OPA and grant other concessions to farmers, the effect of the campaign to cut off the flow of food was not immediately apparent.

But it aroused widespread discussion among farm leaders and in the Ohio legislature.

Joseph W. Fichter, master of the grange, asserted:

"I think this action ought to be a warning to congress that farmers are getting impatient with the run-around they have been receiving." Remark that the grange with its 101,000 members was taking no part in the protest demonstration, Fichter pointed to an editorial he wrote in the Grange monthly three weeks ago. He wrote:

"After the food crisis is past, the farmers are not likely to be in a mood to continue to accept the misrepresentation and the run around which they have been receiving from politicians and others.

"If necessary, they can get along by producing enough only for themselves, but they do not prefer such a course."

Fichter remarked today he felt in view of the need for food for starving people, this was not the time for farmers to strike.

Agriculture leaders in the Ohio legislature generally were sympathetic with the Protest association's complaints—especially the request for economic parity with industry and labor—but privately said they did not believe a farm strike could become very effective.

"The farmers just won't hang together," one of them said.

Three Drivers Fined, One After Highway Collision

State patrol arrests resulted in three fines in district courts Tuesday.

James Karr, 26, of Plano, Ill., was fined $10 and costs on a speeding charge by Justice of the Peace Earl Spaulding at East Palestine.

Raymond Parker, 27, of Adrian, Mich., drew a fine of $10 and costs in the same court on a speeding charge.

Ray Voelker, 64, of Louisville, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor E. P. Harmon, Sebring, on a charge of reckless operation. The fine resulted from an accident on Route 14 at the intersection of the Snodgrass road Monday. Voelker failed to stop as he drove onto Route 14, hitting a car operated by James Pyfe, 51, of Cleveland. Pyfe suffered minor injuries.

Officer-Enlisted Men Distinctions Narrowed

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 26—The Army launched a military "new order" experiment today by narrowing social distinctions between officers and enlisted men without wiping them out.

Secretary of War Patterson gave carefully qualified approval last night to all but two of the 14 recommendations submitted by the Doolittle "gripe" board which investigated post-war GI complaints of too much caste in the service.

Patterson announced that the War department is ordering:

1. Abolition of saluting except on military posts, in overseas occupied areas and on ceremonial occasions.

2. Elimination of an existing requirement that officers wear distinctive uniforms, live apart from their men in garrison, and confine their social contacts to other officers.

3. Granting enlisted men the same privilege as officers, effective July 1, in accumulating unused leave time, currently 30 days a year.

4. Studies looking to a possible upward revision of pay schedules along with allowances for food, quarters and travel.

5. Measures to train officers better for leadership, assign them "in the best interests of the service" and to overhaul the present system of promotions.

6. Rewriting of regulations to define "essential" privileges of officers and to prohibit or minimize "possible abuses of authority and prestige."

7. Efforts to improve the social facilities available to enlisted men.

Announcing the War department's action on recommendations made by the Doolittle board a month ago, Patterson rejected outright a proposal that the terms "officers" and "enlisted men" be eliminated entirely and stressed there must be no weakening of discipline in the army.

Patterson rejected also a proposal that reports of inspectors general to the War department should bypass field commanders. His reason was that no change should be made that would give the inspectors "any tinge of 'Gestapo' or under-cover status."

Players Club Arranges
For Picnic, New Season

The first meeting for the 1946-47 season of the board of trustees of the Salem Players' club was held Tuesday evening at the home of the president, Howard S. Dodge, Franklin st.

Plans were completed for the summer picnic Thursday, Aug. 8.

Dodge cited to the board his plans for a nine point program for the year. Emphasis was laid on increased membership, monthly social programs for the benefit of all members, educational classes, displays and exhibitions for the welfare of the club.

A selection of well known plays are being reviewed, from which the season's offerings will be selected.

The board will meet again in two weeks.

Police Corral Stray Horse After Chase

Policemen draw strange assignments!

Patrolman Howard Forney, night patrolman, was called to the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, near W. Wilson st., at 5 a. m. today because a large black stallion was reported running up and down the tracks.

Forney arrived and made chase, getting the animal off the tracks—only seconds before the morning Streamliner sped past.

The chase continued with the horse finally ending up in the back yard of the George "Sim" Early residence, 677 W. State st.

Early, also a patrolman, was off duty and in bed but Forney's plight aroused him and the two, using an improvised clothes line halter, held the animal until Humane Officer A. H. Pultz arrived to take charge.

The horse evidently was a runaway, but Pultz has not been able to locate the owner. The animal had suffered several cuts about the face.

HOUSEHOLDERS PAY FOR MINERS' RAISE

WASHINGTON, June 26—The nation's coal bill is up $267,250,000 a year, by OPA estimate.

The price agency figures that yesterday's order boosting anthracite ceilings an average of 91 cents a ton will represent a total of $44,500,000 annually.

Most of that comes out of the budget of householders, the major users of hard coal.

Commercial and industrial users took the principal rap on last Friday's 40% cents a ton increase on bituminous coal—estimated by OPA at $222,750,000.

The bulk of both increases is attributed to the new wage agreement signed by John L. Lewis, president of the AFL United Mine Workers, following the recent coal field strikes.

July 4th Pyrotechnics
Prohibited In County

Columbiana county is assured a safe and sane Fourth of July, as far as fireworks are concerned, Sheriff George Hayes stated today in calling attention to the Ohio law prohibiting the sale and use of firecrackers and fireworks.

Although retail sales of fireworks are prohibited, public displays at parks, etc., can be arranged by applying at the sheriff's office for permits, Hayes said.

WHERRY FIGHT AT COMPROMISE HELD USELESS

House Approved Revised
War-time Act By a
265 to 105 Vote

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 26—A drive by Republican senators to send the OPA extension bill back to conference with the house gave indications of folding up today.

Senators who earlier had expressed interest in the idea told reporters privately that the big margin by which the house rejected a similar move made defeat almost certain.

The house vote was 221 to 150 against returning the already-limited compromise legislation to committee for elimination of meat ceilings.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican whip, still held to his plan to ask return of the bill to a conference committee, however.

Headed For White House
Administration leaders expressed confidence they had enough votes to defeat Wherry's motion and to send the bill on to the White House. It was approved 265 to 105 by the house yesterday.

There was no indication that any filibustering tactics would be employed against the bill. OPA expires next Sunday at midnight unless the extension measure is enacted.

But Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) said he thought the overwhelming house vote foreshadowed a senate okay for the measure even though he added, "Nobody likes it."

Wherry, a Nebraskan, said he did not see how the senate could accept the "conference committee decision eliminating a senate clause which would have lifted price control from meat next Sunday night. The house, however, voted 221 to 150 to back up the committee on this point.

Senate rejection of the bill would plunge it back into conference, probably with instructions to the seven senate conferees to hold out for the decontrol not only of meat, but of poultry, dairy products, petroleum and tobacco.

All those efforts to lift controls were eliminated Monday night by the joint committee which wrote the compromise version.

Although they were written in three separate amendments, from a practical political standpoint they are wrapped up in one bundle.

A legislator from a tobacco state, for instance, might be inclined to support the triple exemptions even though oil and livestock were not particularly important from a production standpoint in his locality.

Wherry was prepared to lead the fight and associates said Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) would support him.

May Urge Veto
Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who directed the struggle to erase meat price ceilings in the banking committee, apparently was acting out the new battle although he told reporters he would vote again for lifting those controls.

While both Stabilizer Director Chester Bowles and OPA Chief Paul Porter remained publicly silent, officials in close touch with them said each is likely to urge President Truman to veto the compromise bill.

War By Any Other Means

A curious byproduct of concern with the awful potentialities of the atomic bomb is the conclusion that another war would be settled by the use of this newest weapon.

This is similar to the reasoning after World War I that poison gas, a less potent but still terrible weapon, had become the key to militarism and that successful war, therefore, would be impossible without it.

Though poison gas was put under a kind of international control and war itself was ostensibly outlawed, World War II occurred and was fought without resort to gas, except in a few isolated instances.

The reason gas was not used had nothing to do, apparently, with the agreements made covering its employment in warfare, but was the result of mutual desire to escape the reciprocal use which inevitably would follow its employment by any one of the combatants.

As is true today of the atomic bomb, gas was a potential weapon once war began, all restrictions to the contrary notwithstanding. Once it became clear that the restrictions against war itself were to be lifted, everything that lay itself to the uses of war was available for use.

If it happens again that restrictions against war are overthrown, secondary restrictions against the atomic bomb will be overthrown, too. The bomb will be available for use, subject only to the capacity of belligerents to manufacture it and to the decision of militarists to use it.

It does not follow that they will decide to use it. For the same reason they decided against gas in the latest war—fear of reciprocity—they might decide to fight the next war with less fearsome weapons.

Into The Sunset

In the old days William S. Hart would have chosen to play it straight, so there is no call for sentimentality in commenting on his last and greatest scene—death at 75.

Whatever cowboys have meant to millions of us in the last third of a century, we owe in large part to the actor who dramatized their occupation. Perhaps there never was a cowboy like Bill Hart, but we believed there was and knew that justice would triumph and all villains would get their just desserts.

It's still a good formula, one of the best the stage and screen ever used. Bill Hart merely made it credible, more credible than any of his contemporaries and more than any of his successors. It was profitable to him, and no one questions but that it was immensely enjoyable for the rest of us.

When all the loose ends had been tied up in the silents, and the hero had saved the gal, the piano player switched into something quavery while the leading man and his lady walked into the sunset. The lights went up, the screen went blank and the show was over. There was nothing left but a pleasant memory. That's the way it is... William S. Hart, 75, dead.

When Was The War Won?

Gen. Eisenhower's official report on the winning of the war in Europe sharpens speculation in a time-less guessing game—the turning points of history. The general himself becomes a participant through his own surmise that the ultimate outcome of the fighting under his supreme command was determined in three decisive actions—Normandy beach-head, Falaise pocket and the battles west of the Rhine in February and March of 1945.

But at the same time he explains that the three decisive actions came about because the United States, principal supplier of war material and possessor of the largest army in western Europe, was able to take advantage of Germany's mistakes. Indeed, our flood of material and the strength of our own forces on the ground, on the ocean and in the air, made some of Germany's mistakes inevitable.

As far as this nation was concerned, therefore, it may be said that the war was won when its government and people, including those who ultimately were to be members of its victorious fighting forces, resolved to defeat Germany. That resolution was made long before American military strength was projected across the Atlantic Ocean. It was made even before hostilities officially began.

The real turning point of history was the decision of millions of American citizens before and after Germany went to war to resist Hitlerism. From that decision came our strength. It made Germany's eventual failure inevitable. What followed was only the means to an end, which takes away none of the credit that belongs to American fighting forces or to American allies, but only puts the credit for the whole nation more nearly where it should be in historic perspective.

To Dissent Is Human

A detail of the report submitted by the House foreign affairs subcommittee which toured Europe late last year will get attention. Appeasement of Russia, the report declares, not only harms the influence of the United States in the world but also hurts our friends in the Kremlin. "When we yield to Russian positions unjustifiably we discredit in Russia the high-ranking leaders of the Kremlin who in their own party councils argue that only a policy of complete reciprocity with the United States will bring enduring results for Russia."

It is easy to forget that to dissent is as human among Russians as it is among Americans. The Russian one-party system of politics, political police and rigid censorship minimize dissent and hide it from the outside world, but there still are Russians who reach independent conclusions. What seems to be a solid front is subject to change. That thought inspired the report.

for what it is worth, which may be more than most Americans suspect it is.

On the assumption that Russia's present course of expansionism is creating resistance out of proportion to anything gained for the Russian people, only one reasonable hope is left for cooperative security. It is the hope that Russians themselves may effect a change of direction. To that end, the subcommittee recommends a meeting between Premier Stalin and President Truman, another detail with possibly more significance for Americans than for Russians.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, June 27

EXCEPTIONAL prospects for moving into large and important fields of operation, in which position, prestige, finance as well as personal growth, gratification and far-reaching ambitions and aspirations, are in sight, according to the benefic promises of this day's planetary configurations.

It is a time to advance upon such high goals, with the acceptance of lucrative openings, affiliation with desirable and influential personages, but with tact, keen analysis, not emotional sway or impulsiveness.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of excellent opportunities for an expansive, happy and long-termed success and gratification, in which high ideals, aspirations and objectives may be realized.

But tact, insight, sound analysis, and the wise use of the personal abilities and charm are recommended, and not by impetuous or emotional incitements of over-zealous behavior. Carefully consider new contracts and propositions based upon sound and practical values not elusive or complicated proposals.

A child born on this day may have excellent opportunities for a dramatic, progressive and happy life in its personal and business affiliations, but it might be carried away by elusive or intriguing propositions.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH
Needless Fear of Heart Ills

BY HERMAN N. BUNDEISEN, M.D.

OF RECENT years, the average man has read and heard so much of heart disease that he is, as it were, "over-sold" on its dangers.

As a result, the very names of the various heart disorders carry with them a feeling of doom. This is unfortunate because it puts an added burden on both the heart patient and his doctor.

We should all learn to realize that, though heart diseases are always serious in that they require prompt attention and good care, they are not necessarily fatal or even incapacitating.

Grave Ailment

Take coronary thrombosis for instance. This is indeed a grave ailment. It may prove fatal, and yet there are numerous cases on record where such patients have enjoyed many years of good health after recovery from an attack.

This disease is the result of what doctors call an "infarction" of the heart muscle, which simply means that a portion of the tissue dies through lack of oxygen and nourishment. This comes about as a result of blocking in a branch of the coronary arteries which supply the heart with blood. Just why this blocking occurs is not definitely known.

According to Dr. Arthur J. Geiger of New Haven, Connecticut, there are three cardinal points of treatment: first, the relief of pain; the second, provision of rest for the heart; and, third, the prevention and treatment of any complications.

How Much Exertion

After time has been allowed for repair of the damaged area, the doctor will estimate how much exertion the patient can safely make. Thereafter, life is largely a matter of adjusting activities to the capacity of the heart for work. So long as this is done, the chances for life and health are good even over long periods of time.

For relief of the pain, a narcotic such as morphine is recommended which can be given by injection into a muscle or a vein. A drug known as demerol may be used in place of morphine. It is valuable in relieving pain and causes relatively little disturbance of the stomach. Morphine may cause vomiting and depress the breathing.

Another preparation which has been found helpful is papaverine, which is like morphine in its action, but somewhat weaker. However, it has some effect in dilating or relaxing the spasm of blood vessels and thus not only relieves the pain, but also may have a good effect on the circulation to the heart. It also may be given by injection into a muscle or a vein.

Restricted Diet

Dr. Geiger also recommends that during the first week or ten days following the occurrence of the attack, the diet be restricted. The patient should be kept in bed at rest for several weeks at least. He instructs the patient not to exert any muscular effort.

The patient is fed by an attendant and daily bathing and change of bed linen is not encouraged as it disturbs the patient.

During the second week, if the patient's condition is satisfactory, he is given upward massages of the legs two or three times a day, and he is allowed to feed himself. At the end of the fourth week, sometimes earlier, the patient is allowed to sit up in a chair, and gradually begin to walk.

Just how soon the patient may return to his normal activities depends on the condition of the heart and the reactions which occur to exercise.

Russia Spurns U. S. Censorship Protest

WASHINGTON, June 26—Acting Secretary of State Acheson said today Russia has flatly rejected a strong United States protest against suppression of news freedom in Romania, and has forced Reuben Markham of the Christian Science Monitor to leave that country.

Acheson told a news conference the United States had registered its objections to the treatment of Markham in both Moscow and Bucharest a month ago and that it had been turned down in both places.

Word had just been received from the Soviet ministry of foreign affairs, he said, contending that the American argument furnished no foundation for rescinding the Soviet action against the American newspaper.

The Kremlin takes this view, Acheson said, despite the fact that the American government considers suppression of news freedom in Romania a violation of the Potsdam agreement made a year ago by Premier Stalin, President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee.

Markham had written stories on conditions in Russian-occupied Communist-dominated Romania to which the Russians objected.

War By Any Other Means

A curious byproduct of concern with the awful potentialities of the atomic bomb is the conclusion that another war would be settled by the use of this newest weapon.

This is similar to the reasoning after World War I that poison gas, a less potent but still terrible weapon, had become the key to militarism and that successful war, therefore, would be impossible without it.

Though poison gas was put under a kind of international control and war itself was ostensibly outlawed, World War II occurred and was fought without resort to gas, except in a few isolated instances.

The reason gas was not used had nothing to do, apparently, with the agreements made covering its employment in warfare, but was the result of mutual desire to escape the reciprocal use which inevitably would follow its employment by any one of the combatants.

As is true today of the atomic bomb, gas was a potential weapon once war began, all restrictions to the contrary notwithstanding. Once it became clear that the restrictions against war itself were to be lifted, everything that left itself to the uses of war was available for use.

If it happens again that restrictions against war are overthrown, secondary restrictions against the atomic bomb will be overthrown, too. The bomb will be available for use, subject only to the capacity of belligerents to manufacture it and to the decision of militarists to use it.

It does not follow that they will decide to use it. For the same reason they decided against gas in the latest war—fear of reciprocity—they might decide to fight the next war with less fearsome weapons.

Into The Sunset

In the old days William S. Hart would have chosen to play it straight, so there is no call for sentimentality in commenting on his last and greatest scene—death at 75.

Whatever cowboys have meant to millions of us in the last third of a century, we owe in large part to the actor who dramatized their occupation. Perhaps there never was a cowboy like Bill Hart, but we believed there was and knew that justice would triumph and all villains would get their just desserts.

It's still a good formula, one of the best the stage and screen ever used. Bill Hart merely made it credible, more credible than any of his contemporaries and more than any of his successors. It was profitable to him, and no one questions but that it was immensely enjoyable for the rest of us.

When all the loose ends had been tied up in the silent, and the hero had saved the gal, the piano player switched into something quavery while the leading man and his lady walked into the sunset. The lights went up, the screen went blank and the show was over. There was nothing left but a pleasant memory. That's the way it is . . . William S. Hart, 75, dead.

When Was The War Won?

Gen. Eisenhower's official report on the winning of the war in Europe sharpens speculation in a time-less guessing game—the turning points of history. The general himself becomes a participant through his own surmise that the ultimate outcome of the fighting under his supreme command was determined in three decisive actions—Normandy beach-head, Falaise pocket and the battles west of the Rhine in February and March of 1945.

But at the same time he explains that the three decisive actions came about because the United States, principal supplier of war material and possessor of the largest army in western Europe, was able to take advantage of Germany's mistakes. Indeed, our flood of material and the strength of our own forces on the ground, on the ocean and in the air, made some of Germany's mistakes inevitable.

As far as this nation was concerned, therefore, it may be said that the war was won when its government and people, including those who ultimately were to be members of its victorious fighting forces, resolved to defeat Germany. That resolution was made long before American military strength was projected across the Atlantic Ocean. It was made even before hostilities officially began.

The real turning point of history was the decision of millions of American citizens before and after Germany went to war to resist Hitlerism. From that decision came our strength. It made Germany's eventual failure inevitable. What followed was only the means to an end, which takes away none of the credit that belongs to American fighting forces or to American allies, but only puts the credit for the whole nation more nearly where it should be in historic perspective.

To Dissent Is Human

A detail of the report submitted by the House foreign affairs subcommittee which toured Europe late last year will get attention. Appeasement of Russia, the report declares, not only harms the influence of the United States in the world but also hurts our friends in the Kremlin. "When we yield to Russian positions unjustifiably we discredit in Russia the high-ranking leaders of the Kremlin who in their own party councils argue that only a policy of complete reciprocity with the United States will bring enduring results for Russia."

It is easy to forget that to dissent is as human among Russians as it is among Americans. The Russian one-party system of politics, political police and rigid censorship minimize dissent and hide it from the outside world, but there still are Russians who reach independent conclusions. What seems to be a solid front is subject to change. That thought inserted in the subcommittee's report will be noted in Russia.

for what it is worth, which may be more than most Americans suspect it is.

On the assumption that Russia's present course of expansionism is creating resistance out of proportion to anything gained for the Russian people, only one reasonable hope is left for cooperative security. It is the hope that Russians themselves may effect a change of direction. To that end, the subcommittee recommends a meeting between Premier Stalin and President Truman, another detail with possibly more significance for Russians than Americans.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, June 27

EXCEPTIONAL prospects for moving into large and important fields of operation, in which position, prestige, finance as well as personal growth, gratification and far-reaching ambitions and aspirations, are in sight, according to the benefic promises of this day's planetary configurations.

It is a time to advance upon such high goals, with the acceptance of lucrative openings, affiliation with desirable and influential personages, but with tact, keen analysis, not emotional sway or impulsiveness.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of excellent opportunities for an expansive, happy and long-termed success and gratification, in which high ideals, aspirations and objectives may be realized.

But tact, insight, sound analysis, and the wise use of the personal abilities and charm are recommended, and not by impetuous or emotional incitements or over-zealous behavior. Carefully consider new contracts and propositions based upon sound and practical values not elusive or complicated proposals.

A child born on this day may have excellent opportunities for a dramatic, progressive and happy life in its personal and business affiliations, but it might be carried away by elusive or intriguing propositions.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Needless Fear of Heart Ills

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

OP RECENT years, the average man has read and heard so much of heart disease that he is, as it were, "over-sold" on its dangers.

As a result, the very names of the various heart disorders carry with them a feeling of doom. This is unfortunate because it puts an added burden on both the heart patient and his doctor.

We should all learn to realize that, though heart diseases are always serious in that they require prompt attention and good care, they are not necessarily fatal or even incapacitating.

Grave Ailment

Take coronary thrombosis for instance. This is indeed a grave ailment. It may prove fatal, and yet there are numerous cases on record where such patients have enjoyed many years of good health after recovery from an attack.

This disease is the result of what doctors call an "infarction" of the heart muscle, which simply means that a portion of the tissue dies through lack of oxygen and nourishment. This comes about as a result of blocking in a branch of the coronary arteries which supply the heart with blood. Just why this blocking occurs is not definitely known.

According to Dr. Arthur J. Geiger of New Haven, Connecticut, there are three cardinal points of treatment: first, the relief of pain; second, provision of rest for the heart; and, third, the prevention and treatment of any complications.

How Much Exercise

After time has been allowed for repair of the damaged area, the doctor will estimate how much exertion the patient can safely make. Thereafter, life is largely a matter of adjusting activities to the capacity of the heart for work. So long as this is done, the chances for life and health are good even over long periods of time.

For relief of the pain, a narcotic such as morphine is recommended which can be given by injection into a muscle or a vein. A drug known as demerol may be used in place of morphine. It is valuable

Russia Spurns U. S. Censorship Protest

WASHINGTON, June 26—Acting Secretary of State Acheson said today Russia has flatly rejected a strong United States protest against suppression of news freedom in Romania, and has forced Reuben Markham of the Christian Science Monitor to leave that country.

Acheson told a news conference the United States had registered its objections to the treatment of Markham in both Moscow and Bucharest a month ago and that it had been turned down in both places.

Word had just been received from the Soviet ministry of foreign affairs, he said, contending that the American argument furnished no foundation for rescinding the Soviet action against the American newsmen.

The Kremlin takes this view, Acheson said, despite the fact that the American government considers suppression of news freedom in Romania a violation of the Potsdam agreement made a year ago by Premier Stalin, President Truman, and Prime Minister Attlee.

Markham had written stories on conditions in Russian-occupied Communist-dominated Romania to which the Russians objected.

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, June 26.—The Packard Motor Co. announced today that no new models will be introduced in 1946 and that major changes in this year's models will be deferred "at least until well into 1947."

George T. Christopher, company president and general manager, said the decision was reached to avoid the production lag incurred in new model change-over and to maintain the flow of present cars to the large number of motorists in need of replacements for war-wear transportation.

Sally Rand Is Jailed For Indecent Exposure

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Sally Rand fanned her way into jail today.

Or maybe she bubbled into jail. At any rate a police detail which sat through one of her fan and bubble dance performances—at least one of them—charged her with indecent exposure, giving an indecent performance, and exhibiting indecent pictures.

They booked her at city prison as Helen Beck, with her stage name in parenthesis, and noted her age as 42. She was released on $300 bail to appear in court later today.

It was much the same old dance as that which she made famous at the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago, said L. S. Belling, manager of the night club featuring last night's performance, which Miss Rand had been giving for 13 years or more.

The pictures? "That's a mystery to me," said Belling. "Miss Rand didn't use pictures. There are murals in the club, but they can't tag them on Sally."

A couple of policemen had earlier shook their heads over the latest fan and bubble dancing.

"Miss Rand," said one of them Saturday at the club. "I don't think you should show so much."

"Gentlemen," said Miss Rand, "you're just 15 years too late."

SNYDER SWORN IN AS TREASURY HEAD

WASHINGTON, June 26.—John W. Snyder was sworn in Tuesday as the 53rd secretary of the treasury.

He took the oath of office in the presence of President Truman, who remained to shake hands with the hundreds who attended the ceremony.

The oath was administered by Snyder's predecessor in the secretaryship, Fred M. Vinson, who became chief justice of the United States only 24 hours earlier.

Snyder, a former St. Louis banker who passed his 50th birthday last Friday, declared that "I shall do my best, and it is my fervent hope that I shall be equal to the task."

Final Surgery Planned In Unusual Bladder Case

CLEVELAND, June 26.—Seven-year-old Patrick Carden, of Youngstown, who was born with his bladder outside his body, within the next two or three days will undergo final surgery for correction of the condition, Dr. C. C. Higgins, urologist at Cleveland clinic, said today.

"Following the operation he will be a normal individual," Dr. Higgins said.

The surgeon described the case as "uncommon."

He performed an operation last October which accomplished the major surgery. Dr. Higgins said that although the final operation would involve removal of the bladder, it was minor in comparison with the previous one, which provided for normal bodily functions.

The boy is the son of Mrs. Margaret Carden.

Betty Ruth Cook Bride Of James Shultz

A rose covered arch in St. Jacob's Reformed church, Lisbon rd. made a beautiful setting for the wedding of Miss Betty Ruth Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Cook, R. D. 4, Lisbon, and James Shultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maywood Shultz, R. D. Lisbon, at 2:15 p. m. Sunday.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Carl Bormuth, pastor of the church.

While the guests assembled, Miss Geneva Zimmerman of Leetonia, played a program of nuptial music. She accompanied Miss Patricia Dickey of Elkton, who sang, "Prayer Perfect", "Because" and "I Love You Truly".

The bride wore a lovely gown of embroidered marquisette and net with a long train, which was carried by Carol Hooper, who is a niece of the groom. The bride's net veil fell from a lace and flower embroidered halo. She wore a single strand of pearls and a watch, gifts of the groom. She carried a Swiss embroidered handkerchief, a gift from her brother, who is overseas.

Miss Susan Farmer of R. D. Lisbon, the bride's only attendant, was gown in pink taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue delphiniums. Frank Fowler was best man.

Ralph E. Cook, brother of the bride, and Frank Carnes of Leetonia, were groomsmen.

A reception was held for 100 relatives and friends. The refreshment table, beautifully decorated, was graced by a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Silver bells and white streamers hung around and above the table.

Mrs. Shultz graduated from the Lisbon High school in this year's class. Mr. Shultz is employed by the Deming company.

The bride's going away costume was a pink lace dress with black accessories.

Let's Eat!

Delicious wheat-saver—fruit cubed pudding.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

Waste not a crumb of bread so that more wheat can be rushed to famine-stricken areas. Save those crumbs and stale slices, dry them slightly in the oven, then roll them into crumbs. Store the crumbs in a sealed jar in the refrigerator.

Fruit Cubed Pudding

(Serves 6-8)

One cup toasted bread cubes (cut into 1/2-inch cubes), 1/2 cup bran, 1/4 cup chopped nuts, 1/2 cup chopped dates or figs, 2 eggs, 2 cups milk, 1/3 cup sugar,

1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla,

2 tablespoons melted butter or fortified margarine.

Combine bread cubes, bran, nuts, meats, and fruit; turn into greased shallow baking dish. Beat eggs well; add milk, sugar, salt, vanilla and butter or margarine. Pour over bread cubes. Place dish in pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 50 to 60 minutes.

Serve warm or cold, with whipped cream, if desired.

Jelly Bread Pudding

(Serves 6-8)

Two cups stale bread, 1 quart

milk, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sugar,

1 teaspoon vanilla.

Soak the bread in the milk until it is soft, then mash it finely. Heat together until nearly boiling. Beat the eggs until light and add to them the sugar, salt, and vanilla.

When well mixed, stir this into the bread and milk, pour into a baking dish, either heat-resistant glass or earthenware, set in a pan of hot water and bake 1 to 1 1/2 hours at 325 degrees F.

To test, insert knife in center.

If it comes out clean, the custard is done.

Dot with cubes of tart jelly.

Gives Talk at Meeting Of Trumble Class

Atty. Alfred Fitch, Bible school superintendent, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Trumble class of the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Lester Squire, Cleveland st.

He discussed future plans for the school's work.

Miss Bessie Godward conducted the devotionals.

Miss Mary Frances Ressler, president, was in charge of the business session, while Miss Mildred Tate arranged the program. Miss Tate gave a reading, "Grandma" and conducted a Bible quiz.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Squire and her associate hostesses, Mrs. Harry Tate, Miss Godward and Miss Esther Miller.

The next meeting is set for July 30.

Former Classmates Feted At Dinner

Delicious wheat-saver—fruit cubed pudding.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Waste not a crumb of bread so that more wheat can be rushed to famine-stricken areas. Save those crusts and stale slices, dry them slightly in the oven, then roll them into crumbs. Store the crumbs in a sealed jar in the refrigerator.

Fruit Cubed Pudding
(Serves 6-8)
One cup toasted bread cubes (cut into 1/2-inch cubes), 1/2 cup bran, 1/4 cup chopped nuts, 1/2 cup chopped dates or figs, 2 eggs, 2 cups milk, 1/3 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons melted butter or fortified margarine.

Combine bread cubes, bran, nuts, and fruit; turn into greased shallow baking dish. Beat eggs well; add milk, sugar, salt, vanilla, and butter or margarine. Pour over bread cubes. Place dish in pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 50 to 60 minutes.

Serve warm or cold, with whipped cream, if desired.

Jelly Bread Pudding
(Serves 6-8)
Two cups stale bread, 1 quart milk, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup raisins, if desired, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Soak the bread in the milk until it is soft, then mash it finely. Heat together until nearly boiling. Beat the eggs until light and add to them the sugar, salt, and vanilla. When well mixed, stir this into the bread and milk, pour into a baking dish, either heat-resistant glass or earthenware, set in a pan of hot water and bake 1 to 1 1/2 hours at 325 degrees F.

To test, insert knife in center. If it comes out clean, the custard is done.

Dot with cubes of tart jelly.

Romance Follows Daring Sea Rescue

PAPAALOA, Hawaii, June 26—A romance that quickened under the impetus of a daring sea rescue will unite in marriage next month pretty Brunette Marsue McGinnis, school teacher from Ohio, and Dr. Leodert R. Fernandez.

The engagement was announced by Mrs. Erma K. McGinnis of Oxford, Mo., and Claremont, Calif., mother of the bride-to-be. Mrs. McGinnis joined her daughter recently during the latter's convalescence from a harrowing experience.

In her little cottage on Laupahoehoe Point on Hawaii island's northeast coast, Miss McGinnis had just arisen to prepare for school April 1 when a towering tidal wave roared across the spit of land and crumbled the cottage like an egg-shell. Angry waters turned and boiled seawards, carrying the splintered remains of buildings. Miss McGinnis pulled herself atop a door.

There was little hope of rescue, but the teacher did not know it immediately.

By late afternoon, Laupahoehoe men salvaged a small boat, plugged the leaks and put out to sea. A Coast Guard plane directed the craft to the cottage door, bobbing in a heavy sea, a lone figure atop it. Fourteen hours after the tidal wave struck, Marsue McGinnis, limp and weary, was lifted off her improvised life raft. And the man who helped her into the boat was Dr. Fernandez.

Dr. Fernandez is physician for the Laupahoehoe and Kaiwikisugar companies, the Hamakua Mill Co. and county physician for North Hilo district.

Your GI Rights

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
Women have sent in the following questions regarding veterans' rights:

Q—I am a WAC veteran. I understand the Army is asking women veterans to re-enlist. How long would these enlistments last?

A—All former Wacs who re-enlist the WAC "must volunteer either for the duration of the war plus six months or until June 30, 1947, unless sooner relieved for the convenience of the government."

Q—Can a discharged Wac who married a non-veteran borrow money under the GI Bill of Rights to go into business with her husband?

A—Yes, if she plans to spend her full time working in that business.

Q—I served in the Navy's WAVE contingent during the war. Before entering the service, I was a school teacher. The head of the school heard told me I would get my job back when I got out of the service. He died while I was gone, and a new man is now in charge. He is willing to rehire me, but he says he can offer me only a teaching job which doesn't pay as much as I got before. Isn't he required by law to give me a job at least as good as the one I had before I enlisted?

A—No. A federal statute can't force a state to do anything. The re-employment rights of the Selective Service Act do not apply to state and local public officials.

Q—Does a woman veteran get the same mustering-out pay as does a man?

A—Yes.

Q—Several of us who were Wacs have been talking about putting our money together and starting a nursery school. Could we get a loan under the GI Bill of Rights with which to start it?

A—Yes. Before guaranteeing the loan, the Veterans' Administration would want to make sure, however, that all of you had enough experience to indicate your venture stood a reasonable chance to succeed.

BOY, 14, CONFESSES
DEATH OF GIRL, 3

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 25 — A three-year-old girl was strangled and her body thrown into a small creek a few blocks from her suburban Lawnton home after a "scared" 14-year-old boy attempted to rape her, State Police Sergeant Edwin J. Stromann reported today.

The slaying of little Margie Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Paul Vaughn, occurred yesterday, Stromann said, adding he had arrested the boy—a neighbor of the victim—and was holding him for action by the district attorney.

Stromann announced flatly that the youngster, unnamed because he is a juvenile and not yet formally charged, "confessed the whole thing" after intensive questioning at state police barracks here.

Boyle's COLUMN

By DON DOANE
For Hal Boyle

FRANKFURT, Germany. — The American army is undertaking to teach German pedestrians how to cross streets safely—with the twin objective of saving lives of American soldiers, as well as German jaywalkers.

Officers in the provost marshal's office say jaywalking seems to be a national habit in this country.

Germans are not accustomed to such fast and heavy traffic as the highly mechanized American army has brought to their narrow, winding streets.

Soldiers call German pedestrians "walking zombies."

Many people walk calmly off the curb without even glancing up or down the street. Those who do look often start across at the wrong time, then leap the wrong way. Some ignore the sidewalks and walk along vehicular traffic lanes.

"Even the city-bred German acts as confused as the proverbial country bumpkin when he enters a busy street," one army safety officer commented.

Largely as a result of these habits, the number of Germans struck down by military vehicles and of soldiers injured in collisions is alarmingly high, army officials admit.

So a campaign of education was begun, with a possibility sterner measures may be employed if that fails. In Berlin military police cars equipped with loudspeakers tour the streets, cautioning, warning and reprimanding jaywalkers, instructing them when to cross and where.

In Frankfurt, signs are placed at intersections indicating the proper crossing points and times. Police are instructed to enforce crossing regulations strictly.

Army safety officers suggest Germans' inexperience with fast-moving heavy traffic as the chief reason for their careless pedestrian habits. Traffic now is heavier even than before the war and much heavier than during combat when few private soldiers were permitted.

They suggest, too, that Germans' alertness has been dulled and their reactions slowed by years of war bombardment and hardships and by the enervating effect of slim food rations.

But people long familiar with Germany say they always have crossed streets this way. "They figure it's the driver's job to miss them," said one private resident.

Industrialist Dead

PORTSMOUTH, June 26—The Ohio Chamber of Commerce today lost through death the leadership of A. Graves Williams, 51-year-old Portsmouth industrialist who headed that body through seven successive administrations.

Williams, who during his tenure since 1938 watched the chamber quadruple its membership to 5,000, died yesterday in Presbyterian hospital in New York City after several weeks' illness.

Ross W. Gibson, a salesman who saw the buildup, said the bandits drove to the curb in front of the postoffice, so as to block his car.

When the messengers, Jack Mahoney and Harry Bloomer, drove up to the postoffice, Gibson told police, one bandit pointed a gun at Bloomer, and said "hand over the money."

The other walked to the car, took the two bags and returned to the bandit car.

They drove off on the Boston post road toward Albany.

BOY, 14, CONFESSES DEATH OF GIRL, 3

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 25—A three-year-old girl was strangled and her body thrown into a small creek a few blocks from her suburban Lawnton home after a "scared" 14-year-old boy attempted to rape her, State Police Sergeant Edwin J. Stroman reported today.

The slaying of little Margie Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Paul Vaughn, occurred yesterday, Stroman said, adding he had arrested the boy—a neighbor of the victim—and was holding him for action by the district attorney.

Stroman announced flatly that the youngster, unnamed because he is a juvenile and not yet formally charged, "confessed the whole thing" after intensive questioning at state police barracks here.

Boyle's COLUMN

By DON DOANE

(For Hal Boyle)

FRANKFURT, Germany.—The American army is undertaking to teach German pedestrians how to cross streets safely—with the twin objective of saving lives of American soldiers, as well as German jaywalkers.

Officers in the provost marshal's office say jaywalking seems to be a national habit in this country.

Germans are not accustomed to such fast and heavy traffic as the highly mechanized American army has brought to their narrow, winding streets.

Soldiers call German pedestrians "walking zombies."

Many people walk calmly off the curb without even glancing up or down the street. Those who do look often start across at the wrong way, then leap the wrong way. Some ignore the sidewalks and walk along vehicular traffic lanes.

"Even the city-bred German acts as confused as the proverbial country bumpkin when he enters a busy street," one army safety officer commented.

Largely as a result of these habits, the number of Germans struck down by military vehicles and of soldiers injured in collisions is alarmingly high, army officials admit.

So a campaign of education was begun, with a possibility sterner measures may be employed if that fails. In Berlin military police cars equipped with loudspeakers tour the streets, cautioning, warning and reprimanding jaywalkers, instructing them when to cross and where.

In Frankfurt, signs are placed at intersections indicating the proper crossing points and times. Police are instructed to enforce crossing regulations strictly.

Army safety officers suggest Germans' inexperience with fast-moving heavy traffic as the chief reason for their careless pedestrian habits. Traffic now is heavier even than before the war and much heavier than during combat when few private soldiers were permitted.

"They suggest, too, that Germans' alertness has been dulled and their reactions slowed by years of war bombardment and hardships and by the enervating effect of slim food rations."

But people long familiar with Germany say they always have crossed streets this way. "They figure it's the driver's job to miss them," said one prewar resident.

Feller May Hit 30 Win Record

By LARRY SMITH

CLEVELAND, June 26—Blazin' Bob Feller may become the major league's first 30-game winner since Dizzy Dean turned the trick back in 1934—despite the fact he has an anemic batting corps for his supporting cast.

The 27-year-old fireballer has notched 12 triumphs and probably will make three more starts before the season half-way mark is reached. With the Indians giving him an average of only 3.58 runs per game, the odds are against him, but people have learned to accept the unusual from the former Iowa farm boy.

Feller is slightly ahead of the pace he set in his best season, 1940, when he won 27 games on the same date that year Bob's record was 11 wins and four losses. He could make it that year when the Indians were a contender and lost the pennant by the margin of a single game.

Offsetting that is the fact that Feller wasn't at his best in every game that season. He was used as a workhorse by Oscar Vitt, appearing in 43 games and hurling 320 innings an assignment no other American league hurler had to shoulder.

This year he's being used normally starting only every fourth day. Also, many maintain that Bob is a better moundman in 1946. He has better control, a sharper curve and thus hasn't been compelled to fire the ball past opposing batters on every pitch.

Bob got off to a slow start this season, losing three of his first five games but he now has won six of his last seven starts. In the five games Feller has lost the Indians have given him an average of only 1.6 runs per game.

The Navy veteran has beaten every club in the circuit except Detroit. He dropped a 3 to 2 decision in 10 innings to the Tigers in his only start against them this season.

Feller has been a particular nemesis to the New York Yankees this season. He has humbled the Bronx Bombers four times in as many starts, including his memorable April 30 no-hitter.

The Yankees' latest second-best effort against Feller was yesterday when they dropped an 8 to 3 verdict.

For a change the Indians presented Bob six runs to work on in the opening inning. He survived the shock and fanned 13 to hike his season total to 165 in 154 innings. He wavered only in the eighth when the Yankees nailed four straight hits, including Joe DiMaggio's 16th homer.

Will Aid Spokane Team

Major Leagues, Minor Loops Rush To Assist Club Now Down To Three Players After Bus Crash

SPOKANE, Wash., June 26—Organized baseball opened its heart today to help reconstruct the Spokane Indians baseball team, slashed to three active players Monday night when a bus crash carried eight to their deaths and injured seven other players and the driver.

Offers of player help came not only from the B League Western International circuit, where Spokane was battling to rise from fifth place, but from major leagues across the nation.

The president of the Western International league, Robert B. Abel of Tacoma, was to arrive in Spokane today to discuss recruiting of players from other clubs and enable Spokane to finish its season.

Owner Sam W. Collins, busy assisting relatives of victims, was determined to finish the season because "the boys themselves would want the game continued."

Collins was encouraged to try again by a wire from Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National league, who promised "every possible effort" to send players and help locate a new manager if necessary.

President W. G. Braham of the National Association of Minor leagues also offered all help possible.

President Clarence Rowland of the Pacific Coast league said in Los Angeles he had urged coast teams to option surplus players to the Indians.

Spokane will not attempt to compete at least until July 4, though other league teams will resume play tonight.

Salem Poloists To Play Akron Sunday

The Salem Polo club will play the Akron Polo club at the Bar-K ranch, Akron, at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The Akron club, which Salem defeated here a week ago 13-4, lost to Poland at Poland this week 9-8. Salem has met Poland twice this year, losing by one point in the initial start and tying them here, 11-11, two weeks ago.

Salem fans planning to follow the club can find the Bar-K ranch by following signs from the Akron airport terminal.

Feller is slightly ahead of the pace he set in his best season, 1940, when he won 27 games on the same date that year Bob's record was 11 wins and four losses. He couldn't make it that year when the Indians were a contender and lost the pennant by the margin of a single game.

Offsetting that is the fact that Feller wasn't at his best in every game that season. He was used as a workhorse in 43 games and hurling 320 innings an assignment no other American league hurler had to shoulder.

This year he's being used normally starting only every fourth day. Also, many maintain that Bob is a better moundman in 1946. He has better control, a sharper curve and thus hasn't been compelled to fire the ball past opposing batters on every pitch.

Bob got off to a slow start this season, losing three of his first five games but he now has won six of his last seven starts. In the five games Feller has lost the Indians have given him an average of only 1.6 runs per game.

The Navy veteran has beaten every club in the circuit except Detroit. He dropped a 3 to 2 decision in 10 innings to the Tigers in his only start against them this season.

Feller has been a particular nemesis to the New York Yankees this season. He has humbled the Bronx Bombers four times in as many starts, including his memorable April 30 no-hitter.

The Yankees' latest second-best effort against Feller was yesterday when they dropped an 8 to 3 verdict.

For a change the Indians presented Bob six runs to work on in the opening inning. He survived the shock and fanned 13 to hike his season total to 165 in 154 innings. He waved only in the eighth when the Yanks nailed four straight hits, including Joe DiMaggio's 16th homer.

Will Aid Spokane Team

Major Leagues, Minor Leagues Rush To Assist Club Now Down To Three Players After Bus Crash

SPOKANE, Wash., June 26—Organized baseball opened its heart today to help reconstruct the Spokane Indians baseball team, slashed to three active players Monday night when a bus crash carried eight to their deaths and injured seven other players and the driver.

Offers of player help came not only from the B League Western International circuit where Spokane was battling to rise from fifth place but from major leagues across the nation.

The president of the Western International league, Robert B. Abel of Tacoma, was to arrive in Spokane today to discuss recruiting of players from other clubs and enable Spokane to finish its season.

Owner Sam W. Collins, busy assisting relatives of victims, was determined to finish the season because "the boys themselves would want the game continued."

Collins was encouraged to try again by a wire from Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National league, who promised "every possible effort" to send players and help locate a new manager if necessary.

President W. G. Bramham of the National Association of Minor leagues also offered all help possible.

President Clarence Rowland of the Pacific Coast league said in Los Angeles he had urged coast teams to option surplus players to the Indians.

Spokane will not attempt to compete at least until July 4, though other league teams will resume play tonight.

Salem Poloists To Play Akron Sunday

The Salem Polo club will play the Akron Polo club at the Bar-K ranch, Akron, at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The Akron club, which Salem defeated here a week ago 13-4, lost to Poland at Poland this week 9-8. Salem has met Poland twice this year, losing by one point in the initial start and tying them here, 11-11, two weeks ago.

Salem fans planning to follow the club can find the Bar-K ranch by following signs from the Akron airport terminal.

Salem Athletics Meet Youngstown Team Today

The Salem Athletics will meet Youngstown McKelvey's at 6:30 to-night at Centennial park.

McKelvey's have one of the better teams in the tough Class A league in Youngstown and have appeared here twice this season in meetings with other teams.

JACK KING PITCHES, BATS OHIO GRILL TO 9-1 WIN; MULLINS STAYS ON TOP

Sterling one hit pitching by Jack King Monday night kept the Ohio Grill in the American league race, as he throttled the Sip N Bite 9-1, while Mullins romped to an easy victory over the Eagles, 5-1, at Centennial park.

King added another of his fine mound jobs and kept his team within striking distance of Mullins. He struck out 10 men and only walked one.

Government Opens Drive At Lumber Racketeers

WASHINGTON, June 26—The government today announced plans for a stepped-up campaign against black market sales in lumber and other building materials.

Designed to halt diversion of these materials from veteran housing, the program was billed as an "intensive, combined attack" by the National Housing agency, the OPA, the Department of Justice and the Treasury department.

Attorney General Tom Clark said measures to be used will include criminal prosecutions, tax investigations and prosecutions, treble damage suits, as well as injunctions and similar actions. The officials said the drive will be directed against all levels of operations, including producers of materials, truckers, distributors and consumers.

Ohioans Killed When Private Plane Crashes

Firemen work on wreckage of small private plane which crashed in residential section of Akron, O., in attempt to remove mangled bodies of George M. Kling, Jr., Barberton, O., and Mrs. Genessee Fickie, Akron.

Utility Tax Trend Flayed By C. of C.

COLUMBUS, June 26 — More equitable distribution of existing revenues—not more taxes—is the state's problem, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce declared today in an attack on the trend toward city consumer's utility and the city payroll and income taxes.

"The widespread adoption of excise and income taxes in Ohio cities could seriously affect the entire Ohio industrial development prospect," the Chamber asserted.

"The imposition of these new taxes by municipalities adds to industry's operating costs and may adversely influence new industrial enterprises considering entrance into specific communities.

"Already there are indications that existing industrial operations may be transferred or relocated to escape such levies where imposed."

Herschel C. Atkinson, executive vice president of the Ohio chamber, emphasized tax revenues raised in Ohio for operation of state and local governments are in excess of the combined needs and called for action by the Ohio general assembly in redistributing that revenue.

Not So Lucky, After All

Hitler thought Sunday was his lucky day for invasion. His attacks on Poland, the Low Countries, Yugoslavia, Greece, and Russia all fell on Sunday.

Rail Cars Needed To Move Wheat Crop

GREAT BEND, Kas., June 26—Country elevators were choked with wheat today in the nation's bread belt as the 1946 harvest reached a peak with a shortage of box cars its main problem.

Nearly 300 grain elevators in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas have all the wheat they can handle until the rail bottleneck is broken. In some instances grain was piled on the ground both at elevators and on farms because of the railroad car shortage.

But there was hope that the transportation problem might soon be solved. An appeal by Gov. Schoepel of Kansas that his state is facing critical spoilage of the new crop brought a promise of more railroad cars to move grain to larger terminals which still have plenty of storage room.

The harvest swung into full scale this week after rains in the wheat country had forced a brief interruption. Glowing reports of bumper yields continued to pour in from all three states.

Convicted of Murder

BOWLING GREEN, June 26—Arthur Peebles, wealthy 55-year-old Perry township farmer, was convicted of second degree murder yesterday in the death of Eugene A. Roth, a farmer tenant on his property.

Free Argentine Gold

BUENOS AIRES, June 26—The United States has released 2,550,000 pesos ($644,000,000) in gold—the bulk of Argentine funds which were frozen in the U. S. during the summer of 1944, the foreign office announced last night.

Government Opens Drive At Lumber Racketeers

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The government today announced plans for a stepped-up campaign against black market sales in lumber and other building materials.
Designed to halt diversion of these materials from veteran housing, the program was billed as an "intensive combined attack" by the National Housing agency, the OPA, the Department of Justice and the Treasury department.
Attorney General Tom Clark said measures to be used will include criminal prosecutions, tax investigations and prosecutions, treble damage suits, as well as injunctions and similar actions. The officials said the drive will be directed against all levels of operations, including producers of materials, truckers, distributors and consumers.

Ohioans Killed When Private Plane Crashes

Firemen work on wreckage of small private plane which crashed in residential section of Akron, O., in attempt to remove mangled bodies of George M. Kling, Jr., Barberton, O., and Mrs. Genessee Fickie, Akron.

Utility Tax Trend Flayed By C. of C.

COLUMBUS, June 26.—More equitable distribution of existing revenues—not more taxes—is the state's problem, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce declared today in an attack on the trend toward city consumer's utility and the city payroll and income taxes.

"The widespread adoption of excise and income taxes in Ohio cities could seriously affect the entire Ohio industrial development prospect," the Chamber asserted.

"The imposition of these new taxes by municipalities adds to industry's operating costs and may adversely influence new industrial enterprises considering entrance into specific communities.

"Already there are indications that existing industrial operations may be transferred or relocated to escape such levies where imposed."

Herschel C. Atkinson, executive vice president of the Ohio chamber, emphasized tax revenues raised in Ohio for operation of state and local governments are in excess of the combined needs and called for action by the Ohio general assembly in redistributing that revenue.

OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. Williams

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY

Q—To what degree will the most powerful microscope magnify particles?
A—A new magnetic lens has improved the electron microscope from 100,000 to 200,000 diameters in effectiveness—which means that it can magnify recognizably 50,000 distinct particles in a distance equal to width of a hair.

Q—Who was named to succeed Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., as U.S. Delegate to the UN Security Council?
A—Sen. Warren Robinson Austin, 68, Vermont Republican. He will begin serving when his Senate term ends.

Q—What is the population of Greenland?
A—About 20,000 Eskimos and 500 Danes.

Q—Is Egypt suffering from unemployment?
A—Yes. In Alexandria alone 50,000 are unemployed. War plant shutdowns are responsible for most joblessness, and some sentiment has been voiced in favor of the British, "who gave us work."

OBITUARY

Rail Cars Needed To Move Wheat Crop

GREAT BEND, Kas., June 26.—Country elevators were choked with wheat today in the nation's bread belt as the 1946 harvest reached a peak with a shortage of box cars its main problem.

Nearly 300 grain elevators in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas have all the wheat they can handle until the rail bottleneck is broken. In some instances grain was piled on the ground both at elevators and on farms because of the railroad car shortage.

But there was hope that the transportation problem might soon be solved. An appeal by Gov. Schoepel of Kansas that his state is facing critical spoilage of the new crop brought a promise of more railroad cars to move grain to larger terminals which still have plenty of storage room.

The harvest swung into full scale this week after rains in the wheat country had forced a brief interruption. Glowing reports of bumper yields continued to pour in from all three states.
